ABOARD MOTOR SHIP BRAT- VAAG, SKIAER ISLAND, Norway, Sept. 1.—(By Wire) to the Associ- ated Press.—The Norwegian ex- pedition to Franz Josef Land (now Fridtjof Nansen Land) in the summer of 1930 was made with the motor sealer Bratvaag of AAL- sund. The skipper was Peder Ellissen.

It was planned that the vessel at the same time hunt whales, seals and ice bears.

We sailed from Alesund on July 29 and in marvelous weather we went northward along the coast to Tromsø, where we arrived at the evening we continued our voyage and by the next morning we were well out at sea past Soroya Island.

We made our course for Hopen, our first stopping place. We arrived there Aug. 2. From there we proceeded to King Karl's Land (Spitzbergen) and arrived on Aug. 4 at Sable Island, which is the northwesterly port of King Karl's Land.

Because of reports from a hunt- ing expedition that the North Pole was near, we knew that ice conditions were unusually favor- able, and up to now we had not seen one floating iceberg.

Therefore we decided that en- route to Franz Josef Land, we would visit the islands between Spitzbergen and Franz Josef Land, which usually are hard to reach.

Here is Labor Day Story of Real Labor and Complaints It Brought From Neighbors

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Here, friends, is a Labor day story; all about labor—the good old iron muscle, headed brow kind—and about Robert Saunders, 55, and 40 tons of coal.

Robert hadn't worked for months. Then along comes the Marine Coal company and dumps 40 tons of coal in an alley be- hind a North Irving avenue apart- ment building and says to Robert: "Heave that coal into the basement and don't quit until it's all in."

Forty tons is a lot of coal, if you've ever done much coal shov- eling. Big strong men much young- er than Robert have been known to grumble and pout and cuss and get mad at the mere thought of heaving a measly two shovelfull into the furnace—let alone shove 40 tons that had to be carried 20 feet from the pile to the basement chute.

But Robert was delighted at the respect and he went to work with gusto. He took 15 minutes off for lunch and went back to work. At 11 p. m. last night he was still shoveling steadily cut- ting down the pile.

The public residing in the im- mediate vicinity was desirous of

ROCKS PLACED ON TRACK SENT TRAIN CRASHING TO DITCH

SIX KNOWN DEAD AND MANY INJURED AS RESULT OF FRISCO WRECK

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Six persons were killed, eleven taken to hospitals and about 180 other passen- gers shaken up, many receiving minor injuries, when the "Texas Special" of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad was wrecked in the outskirts of St. Louis at 7:20 o'clock last night.

Railroad and county officials in charge of investigations today were convinced the speeding train was purposely and maliciously wrecked by an obstruction of large rocks on the rails. No statement as to the motive was given.

A report last night to general offices of the Frisco here was that eight persons lost their lives, but County Coroner John O'Connell said today only six were killed.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A two-fold investigation went forward to- day into the derailment near here last night of the St. Louis-San Francisco passenger train. The Texas Special, in which at least six persons were killed.

St. Louis county authorities and officials of the railroad, who were conducting separate inquiries, were convinced the derailment was the work of train wreckers.

Six bodies, including those of the engineer and fireman, lay in a morgue in suburban Kirkwood. E. W. Conley, superintendent of termi- nals at Tower Grove station here, who took charge at the scene of the wreck, said, however, that eight bodies were recovered. Dr. John O'Connell, county cor- oner, said the derailment had been caused by a pile of large rocks which had been placed on the rails. The rocks, six or eight in number and ranging from one foot square to 8 inches in thick- ness, were placed on the rails on a curve in the tracks, he reported.

Yardmaster John A. Rutledge of St. Louis, who was in charge of the train, said the wreck occurred at a point about 500 feet east of Osage Hills station, about 15 miles west of here, at 7:20 p. m. less than an hour after the train had left St. Louis for Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and other Texas points. The train was traveling about 40 miles an hour at the time.

The westbound right of way, on which the Texas Special was trav- eling, consisted of double tracks, which at the point are about ten feet apart.

UNION WORKERS IN CHARGE OF CAPITAL FOR LABOR DAY FIREMEN DIVIDED HONORS

Twenty Persons Are Heat Victims Watching Parade

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Union workers and firemen took possession of the national capital today with Labor Day celebrations attended by record-breaking crowds of visitors.

While the notables of the city and as many of its inhabitants as could get away sped to resorts and playgrounds, tourists from far and near thronged the streets, parks and museums. Lining the historic march-route of Pennsylvania ave- nue for a holiday parade in which fire-fighters from nearby cities vied with the elaborate pageantry prepared by the local force. March- ing with them were delegations of seventy-five labor unions.

Of the nation's high officials only Vice-President Curtis expected to be in the city all day, formally opening in the morning a new hourly airline service to Philadel- phia and New York.

President Hoover planned to re- turn in late afternoon from his weekend of rest at the Virginia mountain camp.

The president of the American Federation of Labor, William Green, observed Labor Day with an address at the New York State Fair in Syracuse. Yesterday he signaled here the working man's own celebration in an address at the Washington Cathedral, plead- ing for wider application of religious principles in the human relations of industry.

In place of the federal officials, two state heads—Governor Ritchie of Maryland, and Governor Pollard of Virginia—represented govern- ment at the labor exercises. They headed the list of reviewers for the firemen's parade.

AMERICAN LEGION OPENS CONVENTION BIG ATTENDANCE

DELEGATES ARE FORMALLY GREETED; MANY ENTER- TAINMENT FEATURES

AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Perpetua- tion of the high purposes of the American Legion was urged by speaker after speaker today as the 12th annual convention of the legion and its auxiliary organiza- tions opened in the legislative halls of the state capital.

From the first address of wel- come by Mayor P. W. McFadden, of Austin, to the principal address of the morning the tenor was praise for the legion's work and the hope that it would be carried forward.

Governor Dan Moody welcomed the legionnaires and their ladies to the capital with the expression "this is your house and your capitol."

"The American Legion," he said, "is just entering into its own. Its high purposes are not per- petuating of the experiences of the world war, but to perform services of public good, needed at all times, the legion has a con- tinuing obligation and continuing opportunity to advance the welfare of the people."

Governor Moody informed the convention that the bronze marker authorized by the legislature to be placed on the memorial stadium here in memory of Texas world war dead, was nearly ready for casting, and that it probably would be dedicated November 11.

It will be engraved with the names of from 4,000 to 5,000 Texas men and women who gave their lives to the nation, he said.

"I think the legion will con- tinue to go forward," the governor concluded, "and will come to be one of the greatest organizations in the state for service to the people."

Responding to the welcoming addresses of Governors Moody and Mayor McFadden, Senator Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth, told the convention that legionnaires were ready for any task—"for a frolic or a fight and we don't care which."

AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Eleven hundred members of the American Legion and their ladies today opened the serious business of the leg- ion's twelfth annual state con- vention.

Singly and in groups, the legion- naires and members of the in- cluded auxiliary came to Austin yes- terday until by nightfall the streets, flag-draped in honor of (Continued on Page 9).

PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Fear of mob violence drove offi- cers last night to remove three negroes who had been arrested earlier for an alleged assault on a white woman.

BODY OF PAYNE AWAITED BURIAL AT TULIA MONDAY

FANTASTIC CAREER AMAR- ILLO ATTORNEY BROUGHT TO FINAL CLOSE

AMARILLO, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Potter county grand jury was re- called today to investigate the death of A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, who was killed by a blast in his jail cell Saturday. He was awaiting trial at the time for murder in connection with the death of his wife who was blown to parts by a dynamite charge as she rode in the family automobile June 27.

Labor Finds Cause Today For Rejoicing: Points of Progress Viewed by Green

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Despite hardships brought by the past twelve months, in retrospect organized labor finds today cause for rejoicing. Its leaders see shin- ing brightly against the background of depression and unemployment, an entrenchment of the high wage principle and high working stand- ards.

These are viewed as points of progress by William Green, pres- ident of the American Federation of Labor, writing editorially in the American Federationist of Sep- tember.

"Labor day," the editorial says, "is set aside in honor of the crea- tive contribution which the un- known millions make the progress of society."

"Wage earners, the unnamed partners in all our manufactures and commercial undertakings, are a group that is interested in the problems of production and affect- ed by the decisions of manage- ment."

"While we are a distinct group in industry and society, we are not a group in conflict with all others. We suffer and other groups suffer when our interests are neglected and we fail to keep pace with the progress of society. We do not seek to impose another regime upon industry but to organize a representative system so that we shall not be excluded from a share in the existing order and a share in the wealth we help create. Since production is a collective under- taking to which we are indis- pensable, we believe there are equally good reasons why collec-

COSTE ATTEMPTS ATLANTIC FLIGHT MONDAY MORNING

MAKES PERFECT TAKE-OFF AT LEBOURGET; NEW YORK SCHEDULED LATE TUESDAY

VALENTIA, Irish Free State, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The French trans-Atlantic air- plane Question Mark at 4 p. m., Greenwich time (11 a. m. E. S. T.) today sent the following message:

"Off Loop Head. Left Irish coast 3 p. m. G. M. T." The message, picked up by the wireless station here, was the first direct communication from the airplane on its flight. It indicated the newly installed radio apparatus was working sat- isfactorily.

Loop Head is on the extreme tip of the North Cape shore of the widening Shannon as it reaches the sea. Its geographical title is Leap Head or Cuchullin's Leap. It is 16 miles from Killybeg.

Unfavorable Weather Postpones Take-off

LE BOURGNET, France, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Captain Dieudonne Coste, one of the greatest of French air- men, took off at 10:54 a. m., French summer time, (4:54 a. m. EST), to- day on a flight across the Atlantic to New York.

Accompanying him in his plane, the Question Mark, which already holds the world's long distance re- cord, was Maurice Bellonte, copilot and mechanic and friend and companion of other famous flights. The takeoff was one of the best in Coste's long career. Although heavily loaded with gasoline, the plane left the ground with hardly a bump.

The start was considerably de- layed because of weather condi- tions. The fliers were up at dawn and would have started then but for a veering of the wind to the north. The wind brought clouds and haze.

Route Is Scouted.

M. Codos, a flying companion of commercial flying days, went up and surveyed part of the route to Cherbourg. He returned and fore- cast an improvement soon. After a conference with weather officials Coste changed his departure time until noon but with further im- provement in the weather took off earlier.

There lay ahead of him a trip in excess of 3,700 miles, which he should traverse at an average speed of 100 miles an hour. This (Continued on Page 9)

Entire Train Leaves Track

The locomotive, the combination baggage car, the chair car and the diner overturned, the other cars, eight Pullman coaches and a club car, the latter the Texas Ranger, also leaving the rails but remaining upright. The baggage car was uninjured.

Fifteen persons live in the immediate vicinity of the wreck and it was largely through their efforts hospitals were notified to send ambulances.

Chief Engineer C. E. Ray of Newburg, Mo., and Fireman T. E. White of Maplewood, Mo., were taken from the locomotive. At least four other bodies, including those of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newton of Washington, D. C., relatives of former Congressman Cleveland Newton of St. Louis, were taken from the chair car. The Newtons' 4-year-old son, Robert A., suffered a fractured skull. Both Mr. and Mrs. Newton were employed by the post-office department in Washington.

Striking evidence that the engineer and fireman were true to their trust until death was found in the valve which controls the supply of fuel to the oil burner on the locomotive. The valve had been shut off, thereby preventing the likelihood of a fire.

An accurate check of the injured, especially those who suffered only minor injuries, was impossible today. Reports indicated many St. Louisans returned here and received treatment from family physicians instead of going to hospitals.

The locomotive, after leaving the rails, ran into a bank and turned over on its side. Passengers said the derailment caused little commotion in the three rear Pullmans and the club car, but persons in the forward cars screamed and shouted.

Altee Wickersham of Springfield, Mo., the brakeman, although bleeding from cuts on the head, crawled from the wrecked baggage car and stationed flagmen at each end of the wreck to prevent other trains from running into it in the darkness.

Altee Wickersham, 37, Springfield, Mo., brakeman and baggage man, lacerations of head and body bruises.

J. D. Betsch, St. Louis, Pullman conductor, broken left shoulder.

Lawrence R. Johnson, passenger agent, San Antonio, Texas, lacerations and bruises.

Alec Hawn, 55, Muskogee, Okla., minor injuries.

Robert A. Newton, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newton. His parents were killed.

Mrs. M. D. Stephenson, 55, Greenville, Texas, body bruises and lacerations.

Walter Ridley, 44, St. Louis, negro waiter, head and hip injured.

Mrs. John Godfrey, 24, San Antonio, Texas, nervous shock and hysteria.

Brakeman Summons Aid.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(P)—Although badly injured in the derailment of the Frisco's de luxe passenger train, "The Texas Special," at Osage Hills last night, Altee Wickersham, Springfield, Mo., brakeman, crawled from the wreckage to prevent other trains from running into it in the darkness.

Wickersham then sought a telephone about half a block from the scene of the wreck and telephoned P. W. Conley, superintendent of terminals at the tower station here, so that relief trains could be dispatched to the scene.

The train left St. Louis at 6:30 p. m. for Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and other Texas points.

"We were only about 20 minutes out of St. Louis when the crash came," Wickersham said. "I was in the baggage and office car talking to Burch, Meador and Russell (members of the train crew). Ahead of us was the storage and mail car attached to the tender, but was locked and there was no one in it. Behind us was the chair car, diner and eight Pullmans."

All at once the train gave a powerful jerk and the lights went out. I knew we were in a wreck but that was all I knew for a few minutes for everything went dark and I was alone. When I regained full consciousness we were sitting in the dark. The steel walls of the car had not collapsed, but the wooden partition between the baggage and office compartments had caved in and some of the wreckage had fallen on me.

"I could see the other boys lying about on the inside of the car. I backed out through a side door. I don't know how I did it and a person as I found some of the other members of the train crew. I put them to each end of the wreck to flag other trains if any should come along."

BISHOP HAY MAIN SPEAKER BEFORE M. E. CONFERENCE

Stravick, pastor of the United Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Mr. Hay introduced his sermon with an interesting discussion of the general status of various districts other than the Corsicana district, and declared that the local churches were ranked among the leaders. He explained that the General Conference recently held emphasize the spiritual well-being of the churches in general rather than their financial standing. "Foremost in the duties of the church is the need of saving souls for the Lord, whereas material stands rank secondary," he declared.

Hay continued: "I was more concerned in the number of conversions and additions made to the churches of this district when your pastors were making their reports just a few minutes ago, than I was with the percentages of their conference claims paid or unpaid."

He asserted that pastors who read down but uninjured in the wreck of a Gaslow express at Euston station in the night. Twenty persons received injuries when the train crashed into the buffer stops.

The first of two locomotives hauling the train plunged against the buffers, the second engine was smashed and several coaches were telescoped. The third coach crushed six feet into the one before it.

Women fainted and screamed and helpers had to use hatchets to release them. Ambulances conveyed the injured to a hospital where many were treated for head wounds and shock.

Sydney and Alex Marks Aboard.

Mrs. C. E. Craycroft of Sherman, Tex., a passenger in the diner who was hurled from her seat into the aisle, dislocating her right shoulder, said "the train bumped along the rails for quite a distance." She added that "all the passengers in the diner were thrown from their seats. Then there was a general scramble for the doors."

A. E. Marks, a merchant of Corsicana, Tex., returning from New York in company with his brother, Sydney, was a Pullman passenger on the fifth car from the rear. He said the train came to a stop suddenly and "we were thrown against the seats ahead of us, but neither of us was badly hurt."

"I felt that a wreck was coming when the train began to ride prettily roughly, and a few seconds later I was thrown from my seat into the aisle," Sam Bernard, a dancing school teacher of Dallas, Tex., said.

Miss Ota Glenn of Dallas, a passenger in the same Pullman with Marks and Bernard, while "greatly frightened when the train came to an unexpected stop," said she was not hurt.

Local People on Train

Sydney Marks, Corsicana, and Alex Marks, Sherman, were on the wrecked passenger train but escaped uninjured, according to a telegram received Monday by their sister, Miss Esther Marks, here.

port their salaries are paid up in full, while little is paid on their church obligations, and report no souls saved, and only a few additions to church membership, are receiving their salaries under false pretenses.

"I am going to paint a perfect picture of Christ's idea of a perfect life, as it is recorded in Revelations," the preacher declared. He explained that his remarks would be based on four excerpts from the seven letters received by John, which were the direct words of Christ. Jesus charged people with some of their shortcomings, Bishop Hay asserted, but placed more importance and faith in saving them by telling good they have done, and complimenting them for their patience, courage, faith and love, and other virtues. "Foolish is the preacher who attempts to save souls by telling his people of their sins, and failing entirely to commend them for their virtues," declared the speaker.

Reading four excerpts from the book of Revelations, Bishop Hay declared the picture of a perfect life consisted of one replete with love, faith and courage, and when the end comes to a person saving this kind of life, the doors of heaven are open to him and he need not be chased before he enters. He emphasized the promise of Christ wherein no force can prevent good people from entering heaven. "With this promise what more could be wanted?" he asked.

The speaker said the most important of the three virtues mentioned is love, and that without it, faith and courage cannot accomplish anything. Directing his words to the preachers present, Bishop Hay said it is more important to progress toward the throne. "Homes were kind when the first love of man and woman is neglected and obliterated in love of material things," he said.

Discussing faith, the speaker said: "The second coloring of the picture of a perfect life is: 'Be thou faithful unto death even at any cost.' He pointed out that in order to be able to receive Christ's promise of an everlasting life, people must be faithful to the church, the Lord, themselves, home, their families, and opportunities. "All artists have a background of contrasting coloring to bring out the features of their canvasses, and the background of this picture of a perfect life is one of a diabolical, sinful world," Bishop Hay stated.

The third agent completing Bishop Hay's verbal picture was that of courage. This was discussed briefly. He recounted Christ's that one who overcomes the devil's sinful agencies will be entitled to enter the kingdom of heaven, and nothing can keep them out. The speaker asserted in conclusion that everyone has obstacles peculiar to their natures, which must be overcome by the individual before they can measure up to the latter requirement of the perfect life.

At the conclusion of Bishop Hay's sermon, the preachers and laymen were served a delicious dinner in the educational building, by ladies of Mrs. R. A. Caldwell's circle of the Missionary society.

Following the noonday meal, members of Missionary societies of the various churches represented, held a meeting in the educational building with Mrs. J. S. Callicutt directing.

The conference was concluded in Sheriff Thompson, J. W. Graves, jailer, and prisoners who were in the "tank" occupied by Payne were to be taken before the grand jury.

Plans for Payne's funeral had been completed. Dr. J. A. Bays of the Polk Street Methodist church was to be in charge of the services, and R. J. A. Hill of Canyon had agreed to comply with one of Payne's final requests and deliver a short address at his grave.

Payne's request to be buried beside his wife, whose destruction by an infernal machine he confessed, had been denied by relatives. He was to be buried at Tulia.

AMARILLO, Sept. 1.—(P)—The mutilated body of A. D. Payne, all that remained of the fantastic career of the Amarillo attorney who killed his wife with a dynamite bomb then took his own life with an explosive blast in his cell in the Potter county jail, awaited burial today.

Relatives, friends and the curious gathered here today for funeral services arranged for 2 p. m. at a mortuary chapel. Burial was to be in the cemetery at Tulia, where, his brother Sydney Payne, said, "every persons who passes the grave will have something kind to say." The funeral was planned to be private, with only friends and relatives there. Payne had expressed a wish to be buried beside his wife in the cemetery at Amarillo but Sid Payne said he regretted that could not be done.

"Both families," he said, "relatives of A. D.'s wife and my own relatives, have a sort of horror of the scene of these tragedies."

Afternoon with the following talks: "Closing Out the Year," Rev. A. W. Hall; "Our Conference Collections," the Heart of Practical Missions," Dr. J. W. Bergin, pastor of the First Methodist church; "Our Plan for Everything in Full at Conference," J. J. Creek, H. C. Bowman, B. E. Kimbrow, L. I. Griffin, and L. K. Carraway, and general remarks by Bishop Hay.

Representatives from the following churches attended the conference: Navarro charge, Blooming Grove charge, Chatfield charge, Conledge charge, Emhouse charge, Eureka charge, Frost, Groesbeck, Kerens stations, Kerens circuit Currie, Mertens-Irene charge, Mexia station, Purdon-Harmony, Rice, Richmond, Thornton, Wortam, North Corsicana, Eleventh Avenue Methodist, and First Methodist church. Rev. G. W. Davis, of Mexia reported the largest number of laymen present at the conference and was given an award for this record.

Confidant Explains Bomb

R. L. Conder, confidant of Payne in the Potter county jail, gave a statement yesterday to T. E. Johnson of the Amarillo Globe-News detailing what he claimed to be the "truth" of how and where Payne used to end his life with an explosive in his cell, early Saturday.

Conder declared that material taken from a dynamite stick was used with a short fuse lighted by a cigarette. He said Payne concealed the explosive between his legs.

A document found in the writings of Payne and setting forth his last requests was released for publication last night. He asked and we believe it is just as well that the bodies be separated."

Definite arrangements had not been completed last night. One of Payne's last requests was that Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers' college at Canyon, where Payne and his wife first met and loved, should make a brief address at his funeral. It had not been learned last night if Dr. Hill would be available.

Mrs. Payne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson of Lovington, N. M., expressed a desire to remove the body of their daughter from Amarillo, relatives said.

Not only Mr. and Mrs. Payne be separated in death, but their three children will likewise be separated, each going to a different home.

A. D. Jr., 11, who was seriously injured and permanently crippled by the blast of dynamite that killed his mother, will make his home with Sid Payne, where he has lived since his mother's death.

Children Are Separated

Bobby Jean, 9, will remain with her grandparents, the Johnsons, at Lovington. The future home of Laddie, 14, was still in doubt but it was expected she would live with one of two aunts who reside at Pasadena, Calif. The aunts are her father's sisters.

The diary which Payne kept during his jail confinement will be copyrighted for his children and may be released for publication some time in the future, Sid Payne said. He added that it would be available now to anyone. Payne kept the book in his cell and made daily entries, taking advantage of an opportunity to elaborate on his philosophy of life.

Thousands of visitors passed by his bier yesterday as the body lay at a mortuary here.

Mechanism of the machine or tiny trail of explosive with which Payne took his life proved as mystifying to investigators as the similar contraption he devised and placed in the rear of the family car to kill his wife last June 27.

Officers were ready to admit they could not solve the method used by Payne to "cheat the electric chair." They looked upon it as another product of his fantastic and uncaney, yet coldly calculating and deliberate mind.

Most of the investigators were agreed that Payne carried the explosive into the jail with him when he was first arrested but they could not explain how he kept it hid while he was being searched at the police station, at the Stintnett jail, when he was first confined, again when he was removed to Amarillo and upon arrival at the Potter county jail.

Conder explained that material taken from a dynamite stick was used with a short fuse lighted by a cigarette. He said Payne concealed the explosive between his legs.

A document found in the writings of Payne and setting forth his last requests was released for publication last night. He asked

WOMAN PLAYWRIGHT SENDS DISCARDED SUITOR TO HER RANCH TO REGAIN HEALTH

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—(P)—Asserting her erstwhile fiancé, the Marquis William de Lignemare, was suffering a nervous disorder developed after she had broken her engagement to him, Anne Nichols, playwright, today disclosed she had sent him to her ranch, Encino, Calif., ranch for a rest cure.

"It was my fault for breaking our engagement," Miss Nichols told newspaper reporters as an ambulance waited at a San Pedro pier to take the Marquis to the ranch. "I feel morally responsible for what has happened. I must do what I can to make up for it. That is why I have arranged for him to stay at my ranch as long as necessary in hope rest and quiet will bring about a cure."

The Marquis, former attache at the French embassy at Washington for several years was Miss Nichols' business manager, then her fiancé.

"Our business association led to romance," Miss Nichols said. "We became engaged and then I realized that if we were married it would mean the end of my career. All my life I have been associated with the theatre, either as an actress, producer or writer. I have been free to work as I wished and I knew that marriage would make a difference—so I broke the engagement, although I have the greatest respect and admiration

CLASS SCHEDULE FOR HIGH SCHOOL SHOWN SATURDAY

STUDENTS URGED TO CALL AT HIGH SCHOOL AND ARRANGE PROGRAMS

The schedule of classes for the Corsicana high school is published here in the Daily Sun. All other arrangements have been made for the opening. All students are urged to call at the high school building and have their programs made before the opening day. A number have already made programs. On the first day which is Monday, September 15, the students will report to classes according to schedule and receive their books at their first recitation. Students anticipating difficulty with programs are urged to come early to have their programs arranged.

A modification of the history requirements for graduation has been made. The State Board of Education has introduced a one-year course of world history (general history). At present, our history requirements for graduation are one credit in modern history and one credit in American history. The courses in both ancient, modern, and world history will be given, but credits may not be counted in both. Children below ninth grade will be permitted to take the course in world history. Those students not wishing credits in both ancient and modern history may elect to wait until classified as ninth grade students and then take the world history course which will be accepted in lieu of the present requirement of modern history.

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT—

CHILDREN hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and just as harmless as the recipe reads.

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, you should use it to keep the system from clogging.

Castoria is sold in every drugstore; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

HOOVER DEFENSE CAM-PAIGN.

Washington has been greatly entertained during the past week by the inauguration of the Hoover defense campaign that started with the selection of Robert H. Lucas as Executive Director of the Republican National Committee.

Is the country in bad shape, industrially and economically? That is only, according to Mr. Lucas, "the natural misfortune of the nation," due entirely to the circumstances that the wicked Democrats opposed and hampered every corrective measure that President Hoover undertook.

Is the unemployment situation deplorable and extensive to an almost unparalleled degree? The same deplorable Democrats are responsible, because they have called attention to the mistakes, intentional or otherwise, of the Department of Labor reports in seeking to minimize the distress.

"Passing over the interesting notion," says the Baltimore Sun, "that when there was prosperity under a Republican administration it was 'Coolidge prosperity,' whereas now that there is much unemployment under a Republican administration it is a 'natural misfortune,' this statement involves the question of what remedies for unemployment the administration has put forward and what steps the Democrats have taken to block them, for campaign purposes."

The only measures that were urged during the recent session of Congress to deal with the unemployment situation were the bills introduced by the junior Democratic Senator from New York, Mr. Wagner. These provided for adequate facilities for determining the real facts of unemployment, to set up a system of employment exchanges, and to provide a federal job reserve through public works. The Republicans in Congress defeated nearly all of these measures and emasculated the remainder, though neither from the minor from the White House was any substitute program advanced.

"If it did not range over subjects that lend themselves poorly to facetious treatment at this time," says the Sun paper, "the opening Congressional statement of Robert H. Lucas would take high rank as a comic document."

Mr. Will R. Wood of Indiana, Chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, takes up the song where Director Lucas dropped it. According to Mr. Wood, who may or may not come back to Congress next year, Chairman J. H. Shouse of the Democratic National Executive Committee has been engaged in a "campaign of untruthful propaganda to slander and malign President Hoover and block the President's efforts to carry forward a constructive program that would aid the country in a period of economic distress." Like the other apologists for the administration, Mr. Wood omits any description of what the "constructive policy" is or how the Democrats have blocked it.

A day or two before, Mr. Wood electrified the farmers of the country by telling them that the Grundy tariff meant that they would get half a billion dollars more for their corn crop because of the 25 cents a bushel duty on corn, which, he explained, prevented the country being flooded with cheap corn from Argentina.

"Naturally," says the New York Times, "it was not his body mind to ask how large the Argentine corn to where you are going."

JUST FOLKS

BEFORE THE WEDDING

Be good to her, not in the trivial sense
Of utter disregard of all expense;
Not with that cruel kindness which believes
The purse can set her smiling
But in that wiser meaning of the word
That never shall her faith in you be slurred.

Be good to her—from day to day
Be just Because you wish to, not because you must.

You take her all to glorify or mar,
Her happiness depends on what you are.
And though you lavish on her all your pelf,
'Tis all in vain unless you give yourself.

Be good to her, I ask this than no more—
That side by side you'll brave what lies before,
You cannot keep the touch of grief away,
Nor shut the door to sorrow's bitter day.

But you can say—for this you've power to do—
That no great hurt shall come to her through you.

FARM FAILURE

"Failure" is a word that has been capitalized a good deal in connection with the farming industry, so that the belief doubtless is too common that little is to be expected of agriculture as a career. In every community, no one is more interested and none is better authority upon success and failure in business than the banker.

In a representative farming district in Wisconsin, the federal reserve bank made a survey to determine the true status of the local farming interests. This revealed the fact that of all men taking over farms and undertakings to manage them, 30 per cent had no capital, and 51 per cent had no previous experience in agriculture and no training for it.

This seems to be a verification of the general opinion that "anyone can farm." Further reports of the same survey seem to indicate that the farm has been made a sort of landing place for all sorts that have proved failures elsewhere. A m o n g these newcomers to the business of agriculture who arrived without capital were wrestlers, circus musicians, barbers, milliners, paperhangers, cigarmakers, bricklayers, undertakers, deep-sea divers and professional gamblers.

It is to be expected that farmers like the above would furnish the figures concerning farm failures and removals of farm population to the cities.

crop is. Over a period of years it has recently averaged less than one-tenth of the American, and only part of it has been available for export. Incidentally, the total amount of corn coming from foreign countries—Argentina, and all the rest of the world—amounts to less than one-fiftieth of one per cent of our domestic production. We send out of the country a hundred bushels for every bushel that reaches our shores.

Nevertheless, according to Mr. Wood, and others of the Republican spokesmen, the Democrats in their viciousness, by their opposition to the enactment of the Grundy tariff, are responsible for the acuteness and endurance of the Hoover panic.

Among the other crimes with which the democrats are charged is that of assailing Mr. Hoover's farm board, which, after a year's operation and the expenditure of a considerable portion of its half billion dollar appropriation, has finally evolved as its one contribution to the problem the principle of having the farmers curtail their acreage and produce less, with, incidentally, agricultural products down to bed-rock prices which would have been worse except for the fortuitous occurrence of the great drought. It is true that the defenders of the record of the Hoover administration have not as yet blamed the democrats for the lack of rain. However, it must be remembered that the new republican propaganda bureau has only gotten under way, so the dry spell may yet be laid at the democratic door.

Most of the hiking is now being done from the parking place large the Argentine corn to where you are going.

TO THE RESCUE

FUTURE ROADS.

Road engineers and chemists are not satisfied that they have evolved the best and cheapest kinds of materials for construction of highways that are hard, durable and smooth.

The modern concrete, asphalt and macadam surfacing is vastly superior to the old stone roads, which the main problem was finding a good binder so that the broken stones would find adjustment and, with use, become molded into a hard, even surface. Adoption of the materials and construction methods now in use was hastened by the rapidity with which the good roads movement sprang up in the wake of the automobile.

Now that most of the states have good roads and the maintenance cost has entered into the budgets, the question arises whether there may not be devised through the resourcefulness of the chemist materials which could be worked into even better surfaces and with less cost and possibly with less wear upon machines.

And as yet the chemists who are interested in road construction seemingly have not found material that will fill the bill. Chemistry has done little for the building of roads other than to furnish some materials, but there are indications that new surfaces will be evolved through chemistry that will surpass anything yet produced.

Chemistry performs such wonders that it is not so much a question of the raw material with which it works as of the chemical structure of the material and what takes place in the world of atoms. In some common substance of by-products it will find the much improved material for the roads of tomorrow.

FOIBLES IN EDUCATION.

When leading educators tell the taxpayers of the United States that they are paying a tremendously excessive price for overstuffing youthful minds with intellectual superficialities the taxpayers might well turn an attentive ear.

Truly, our schools cost too much. There was never a greater fallacy than is contained in the platitude, "We cannot pay too much for education." When we can get education for less, the price we pay is too much.

It is constantly being dinned into the people's ears that the public schools are being prostituted by the development of fads, delusions and departures, and that what is needed is a good mental training, an accurate and thorough habit of mind; not the frittering away of the attention by a multitude of PROGRESS.

It is a significant fact as affecting the course of human history that mankind is only now fully cognizant that it is engaged in warfare to the death with innumerable hosts of insect and germ enemies. Half the battle was won, however, when man awakened to his danger and assumed the aggressive in this truly world war.

One of the most effective agencies on humanity's side is the Rockefeller Foundation. This organization is conducting a world wide fight against disease. Its latest report is encouraging to man for it brings good news direct from the front and from reliable sources.

In 1929 there were only three cases of yellow fever reported in the three Americas, although only a few years ago this dread tropical disease was depopulating whole areas and preventing the conquest of the new world tropics. The fever was traced to a certain species of mosquito and then a death warrant was issued for the mosquito. Today both mosquito and fever are rareties.

Malaria and the hookworm have been the South's greatest enemies. They have caused the loss of an untold amount of enterprise and accomplishment, made non-producers and dependents of countless able-bodied men and women, and stunted the physical and mental growth of generations of children. But both malaria and hookworm are on the defensive and threatened with extinction through public health measures. These battles are as well as won by man.

small matters of which the pupil does not get enough to develop consecutive thought. What the public wants is the old thoroughness, a cutting out of dead wood—the fads and fancies of dilettante educators—and a restoration of those things which will help the pupil in the work he has to do upon leaving school in the arena of practical activity or in academic halls.

When schools cost too much for the product which issues from them, they are wronging not only the youth of the land but the social, industrial and business life of the nation.

These are thoughts to which teachers, school directors, parents, taxpayers and governmental agencies of public instruction can give consideration with profit during the weeks preceding the opening of another school term.

Generous to a fault is the little. The giraffe does no necking.

LOBBYISTS.

The stock of lobbyists fell to new levels this year due to that Paul Pry, the senate, but the future is with them rather than with their critics. Their hard-boiled philosophy of government is in accordance with the facts, and lobbyists are in a position to realize more acutely than most the extent to which the individual has declined as a factor in the political scheme of things.

Theoretically the individual is the unit upon which government is based, but the process of government to-day has been taken over by groups. Legislation is a conflict between groups, and if the groups have money it is spent to the best advantage, which means in employing lobbyists and in ways most likely to sway lawmakers.

The power of a group is manifest from the neighborhood upward. Groups, not individuals, petition council for paved streets, street lights, sewers and better police and fire protection. Citizens associate in larger groups to control county and state legislation, and in still larger groups when they want something from Washington.

Legislation at Washington has become a struggle between embattled groups. This last session of congress saw militarists pitted against pacifists, high tariff advocates against low tariff proponents, pensionists against anti-pensionists, dries against wets.

When congress acts on a controversial issue it isn't difficult to single out the group or lobby (the latter is but a symbol of the other) that presented the strongest front. And in politics "the strongest front" has something to do with votes.

One juvenile endurance record we won't be bored by is that of a boy seeing how many successive days he can endure having his ears washed.

The United States imported 65,000,000 bunches of bananas last year. How many picnics and falls does that make?

What this country needs is more and better droughts. Five Hoover commissions went out of business during the last one.

While very few women make their way there are very few who do not have their way.

"Seek man for beating air taxi out of fare." Swindling on a high plane, so to speak.

Natural equipment means little. The giraffe does no necking.

EMERGENCY CALL FOR RED CROSS AID MAY BE MADE HERE

RESIDENTS FORTY DROUGHT STRICKEN COUNTIES PICTURED AS NEEDY

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 29. (AP)—An emergency call to the American Red Cross for funds to aid 38 drought-stricken Texas counties appeared imminent today as the Texas drought committee heard the situation pictured by residents of the counties.

Speakers were unanimous in the opinion that immediate aid was needed. Over the entire block of 40 West Texas counties, stock is dying, vegetation is gone and the people soon would lack food and other necessities of life, the committee was told by representatives of several counties who said their counties were representative of the area.

Speakers advocated an emergency call to the American Red Cross. Counties represented were Knox, Throckmorton, Baylor, Sherman, Childress, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard, Cottle, Motley, Crosby, Dickens, Haskell, Stonewall, Kent, Lynn, Garza, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Shackelford, Eastland, Stephens, Cass, Callahan, Taylor, Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Coleman and Wichita.

Members of the committee present were O. B. Martin of College Station, L. M. Logsett of Fort Worth, Dick McCarty of Albany, A. Bandeen of Stamford, J. M. Crews of Childress, J. E. Frisling of Wichita Falls, L. M. Thompson of Throckmorton, C. A. Phillips of Paducah, E. B. Smith of Quanah, H. T. Fletcher of Alpine, A. M. Cooper of Baird, Andy Bourland of Vernon, Edgar Hutchings of Crofton, Sin O'Neal of Coleman, L. L. Harper of Linden, Fred Rannels of Crowell, J. K. Crews of Madady, J. A. Lacey of Turkey, John H. Thaxton of Sater, O. P. Thrane of Snyder, B. Reagan of Big Spring, Monte Owen of Sweetwater, R. R. Patterson of Roby, R. V. Colbert of Stamford, W. R. Keable of Abilene, Guy Frazier of Rotan, G. S. Plants of Seymour, W. K. Crowley of Lamesto, A. P. Pierce of Quanah, W. B. Slaton of Ahokah, J. E. McLaughlin of Ralls, Irs. Eucora of Rockwall, W. E. Lee of Spur, T. T. Ginn of Aspermont, John Q. McAdams of Winters, J. H. Greene of Colorado, E. B. Spiller of Fort Worth, C. E. Brown of Breckenridge and N. T. Gaines of Bellevue.

Suggestion Made
Suggestions made during the morning session, on which action was expected this afternoon, included a request to the president of Mexico that the order closing the Mexican consulate at Sweetwater be rescinded; that the federal government make loans to farmers with liberal collateral requirements; that red flag freight schedules be applied to sheep and cattle shipping to feed yards and that the time limit on the lowered rates be extended until the situation should be relieved.

Committees of five men from each county were being selected, subject to certification by Governor Moody, to direct relief activities.

L. M. Hozsett of Fort Worth, general freight agent for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, explained that lower rates now applied only to interstate shipments but he said Texas railroad executives would meet at Dallas tomorrow to draft a reduced schedule applying to intra-state shipments. The railroad commission's approval of any schedule then drafted will be asked, he said.

The resolutions committee was headed by W. E. Lee of Spur.

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 29. (AP)—Study of drought conditions and relief measures was the work ahead of a committee appointed by Gov. Dan Moody who were here for a meeting today.

The group planned to study the needs of each of 20 drought-stricken counties and make recommendations for practical relief measures.

Much More Cotton Ginned in Freestone

TEAGUE, Aug. 29.—The 1930 cotton crop is being gathered much more rapidly than the 1929 crop, according to the ginner's report of F. H. Watson, special agent.

Prior to Aug. 18, 1477 bales were ginned in the county, as compared to 780 bales to the same date last year, showing a difference of nearly two to one in favor of this season's ginning record.

The recent rains will naturally slow up gathering a little as the temperature of the atmosphere has descended somewhat and the dampness resulting from the showers has slowed down the process of opening.

HUGE ARMED POSSE SCOURING WOODS IN SEARCH OF SUSPECT

ATTEMPTS TO ARREST ALLEGED MOONSHINERS RESULT IN DEATH OFFICERS

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 29. (AP)—With two officers shot to death and two others wounded in a prolonged attempt to arrest a suspected moonshiner, a huge armed posse today invaded the dense woods at Marcola, near here in pursuit of Ray Sutherland, 67, the alleged killer.

Oscar Duley, Eugene policeman, was shot five times from ambush as he attempted to arrest Baudo Sutherland, 20, son of the fugitive, at the Sutherland home last night. Duley died later in a hospital. Joe Saunders, deputy sheriff, was shot and instantly killed while stalking the elder Sutherland.

A trail of blood from the spot where Duley was shot led to the Sutherland home and thence into the dense woods. Young Sutherland was found in the house and arrested.

The shooting began last night when Duley and John Carlyle, another deputy sheriff, lay in wait for a delivery of liquor to the Sutherland home.

The officers said Duley was shot from ambush by Ray Sutherland as the son's automobile approached and they attempted to arrest the youth.

Deputies said Duley's body was tossed to the side of the highway and the Sutherlands fled. Carlyle spread the alarm. Lee Brown and Rodney Roach, deputies, rushed to the scene and were wounded by Sutherland as they trailed him. Brown was shot through both legs and Roach was struck in both arms and one foot.

Following the bloody trail from the house to the woods the posse searched for the elder Sutherland, who was believed to be wounded.

NEW YORK GANGSTER RELEASED BY POLICE ANTWERP, BELGIUM

TAKEN INTO CUSTODY FOLLOWING HIS ARRIVAL ON STEAMSHIP BELGENLAND

ANTWERP, Belgium, Sept. 1.—(P)—Jack (Legs) Diamond, New York gangster, was released by the police late this afternoon after having been held since he was taken into custody following the arrival of the steamship Belgenland early today.

ANTWERP, Sept. 1.—(P)—Jack (Legs) Diamond, New York gangster, spent a festive forenoon in the Antwerp police station awaiting a trial which would set him free to go where he pleased or start him upon an enforced voyage back to the United States.

Diamond, who landed here from the liner Belgenland early today, seemed at first entirely free to proceed upon his proposed jaunt in Europe. It was understood that instructions came from Brussels to detain him, the Antwerp police having referred the whole matter to the central authorities.

No charge was preferred against the visitors but it appeared that the authorities wanted to make sure he was not wanted by American authorities.

Diamond had stated he wished to go either to Vichy, France, or Magdeburg, Germany, his passport was used by both the German and French consuls in New York, the latter bearing the date of Aug. 13.

Diamond said he was ill with a stomach trouble and may eventually have to undergo an operation, in which case he intended to go to Germany to consult specialists.

The traveler had been expected to go ashore at Southampton or Cherbourg but turned up unexpectedly here.

ANTWERP, Belgium, Sept. 1.—(P)—Jack (Legs) Diamond, New York gangster, landed here this afternoon from board the Belgenland after a trip from New York. He previously had been denied admission at Plymouth, England, and had passed by Cherbourg to meet friends there.

New York police sought Diamond after finding a small arsenal, containing bombs, machine guns, etc., in an apartment in Brooklyn. The officers believed it possible, too, he could give them some information of Harry Western, another gangster.

More recent statements by the police are that there is no further desire for his detention.

The London Daily Mail in a Cherbourg dispatch quoted Diamond as saying:

"All I want to do is stage a fade-out."

He said he had not heard anything of police reports flashed across the Atlantic and that he was surprised any search was being made for him.

"Why, they haven't got anything on me," he said, and added that he hoped the restrictions would not prevent his landing on the continent since the primary reason of his visit was to go to Vichy and take the cure for the stomach and liver trouble from which he is suffering.

BLUMROSEN HOME WRECKED BY FIRE SUNDAY MORNING

Fire originating in a clothes hamper in the bathroom of the home of Mose Blumrosen, 1502 West Seventh avenue, resulted in damages to the house estimated by Fire Chief Elmer Keith at $4,000. The alarm was received about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

The fireproof roof on the house prevented the flames eating through and caused the interior of the residence to be badly damaged. Both Mr. and Mrs. Blumrosen were cut of the city when the fire occurred.

Insurance was carried on the house and contents to the amount of $8,000.

DENISON, Sept. 1.—(P)—The plant, offices and warehouse of the Barnhart Mercantile Company were destroyed by fire today. Officials estimated the loss at a minimum of $200,000. Equipment of the plant was insured but the stock in the warehouse was not covered, they said.

The fire burned several hours and the Sherman fire department was called. A stiff wind forced the fire from control of the firemen several times. The plant, where peanuts and pecans were packed, was one of the largest in this section, covering an entire city block.

FORMER PROMINENT AUTOMOBILE DEALER DYING FROM WOUNDS

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 1.—(P)—With her husband's death expected momentarily, Mrs. Cecil Taylor today told Concho county officers: "I had to do it; he had threatened my life."

Taylor, formerly a well-known automobile dealer, was found at the Jacoby ranch near Eden, where his wife lived with her parents, with three bullet wounds in his chest. The Taylors had been estranged several months.

Mrs. Taylor was to be taken to Paint Rock for an examining trial. A large group of Concho county citizens were to accompany her preparatory to signing her bond if she is bound over to the grand jury.

Mrs. Taylor was calm as she gave her version of the shooting in a statement to Sheriff Willie Warren. She said Taylor came to a window of the house where she was staying about 1 o'clock this morning and called to his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Jacoby, that he wanted his wife. When he learned she was in the house he entered and the three shots were fired. Mrs. Taylor said Taylor was taken to a hospital, where he recognized his parents, prominent San Saba ranch people, and then lapsed into a coma.

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 1.—(P)—Cecil Taylor, former prominent automobile dealer, was dying at a local hospital today from gunshot wounds received near the Jacoby ranch, five miles west of Eden, where his estranged wife resided with her parents.

Mrs. Taylor, from whom the victim has been separated for four years, made a statement to Sheriff Willie Warren of Concho county.

Taylor was found by officers outside the gate of the ranch early this morning. He was being cared for by two brothers of his wife. Sheriff Warren said a screen to the house had been torn away and that the interior was disarranged, showing evidence of a struggle.

Taylor formerly operated a motor car company in San Angelo and is well known here.

LABOR DAY QUIET AFFAIR HERE; SOME INDUSTRIES CLOSED

Labor Day was only partially observed in Corsicana. As a general rule business was conducted as usual with practically all stores open for business. The banks and postoffice were closed, however, as well as some of the larger industrial plants. The buildings trades in general observed the day.

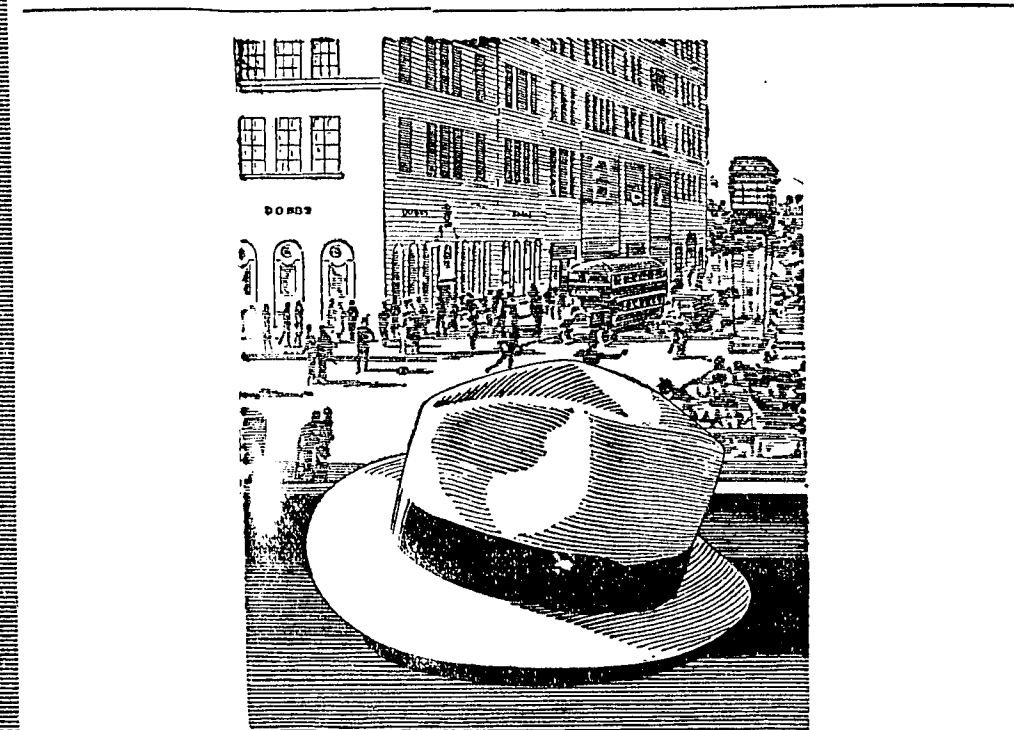

The American Well and Prospecting plant observed a holiday and also the Oil City Iron Works. All departments of the big Magnolia refinery were closed except the departments that run through the 24-hour periods. There were many excursions to other points by members of local labor unions.

Among other places of business closed were the commercial printing offices, most of the barber shops, the plumbing shops, some of the shoe shops, and the electrical shops.

SUNKEN WRECK OF STEAMER EGYPT IS DEFINITELY LOCATED

BREST, France, Sept. 1.—(P)—The sunken wreck of the steamer Egypt, which went down after collision in 1922 has been located definitely by Italian divers. The Egypt carried a treasure of $8,000,000 in gold. The wreck was located off Armen, near Douarnenez, by the treasure-seeking tug Artiglio. The Artiglio had been working persistently under all kinds of weather conditions to find the wreck, which had drifted from the place where it originally went to the bottom. The steamship Egypt, a passenger liner, was wrecked on May 20, 1922, by collision with a French ship in a heavy fog on the coast of Spain near Finistere, with the loss of about 100 passengers and crew. The wreck was saved by the crew of the Seine, the other ship in the crash.

CITY POLICE KEPT BUSY BY NUMEROUS PETTY OFFENSES

The Corsicana police department was kept busy during the week-end, but practically all the calls and arrests answered and made were for petty offenses, one case, however, resulting in an offender being turned over to the county authorities on a charge of transporting liquor. This case resulted when three negroes were charged with disturbing the peace and one of them was alleged to have been carrying a half gallon of liquor in his car, which he smashed before the officers could take it in charge. A woman shoplifter was alleged to have plied her trade in the A. & P. store on East Collin street, but had disappeared before the officers reached the scene after being called by the manager. A peeping Tom was reported to have been busy at a residence on the West Side, but had made his getaway before the arrival of the officers who were called by occupants of the home. A suspect was arrested but could not be identified by those who saw the alleged peeper.

Other arrests and the alleged offenses were as follows: Three on charges of double parking; one for failing to give fire truck right of way while en route to answer alarm; one for operating a truck after night without headlights; two for speeding; one for parking an automobile in restricted area longer than one hour after 1 a. m.; three for intoxication and one in intoxication and disturbing the peace. The officers were also called to a home where a white man was alleged to have been drunk and disturbing the peace by chasing his wife. The man had been before the officers arrived but little trouble is anticipated in his ultimate apprehension. A negro is alleged to have entered a residence and when discovered jumped through a window and made his escape. A description of the black was secured. Another negro is in the city jail on a charge of bootlegging, having been caught while making the transaction. The Chevrolet coach belonging to J. B. Hewitt was reported stolen from its parking place at 213 East Third avenue.

DIVER MAY ATTEMPT RECOVER MONEY IN SAFE LOST VESSEL

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—(P)—Feasibility of sending a diver to recover $68,000 in cash lost when the burning bulk of the gambling ship Monteleone sank off Santa Monica Saturday night, was being investigated today. Tommy Jacobs, owner of the vessel, said he was negotiating with a diver who would attempt to recover the money if the depth of the ocean was not too great. The Monteleone sank after the outbreak of a fire which sent 250 persons aboard scurrying to water taxis. Two members of the crew were slightly injured. The vessel had been anchored for some time outside the limit of state or federal jurisdiction.

BATHROOM BLAST FATAL PROMINENT HOUSTON ATTORNEY

BELIEVED TO HAVE LIGHT-

FILLED ROOM

HOUSTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—H. Rob Keeble, 48, retired attorney, died early today after an explosion in the bathroom of his home. His clothing caught fire. The blast, which occurred late yesterday, was blamed on an accumulation of gas.

J. A. Fletcher, credit manager for the General Motors Acceptance corporation and a roomer at the Keeble home, was recovering today from burns on the hands suffered when he extinguished Mr. Keeble's flaming clothing by rolling him in a rug.

Windows in the bathroom were shattered. The door was split. There was no fire damage.

Firemen said they found a gas hose which had become detached from a plug in the bathroom.

Mrs. Keeble said today she believed Mr. Keeble, who withdrew from a law practice three years ago when he became a semi-invalid, had gone into the bathroom to take a bath and had lighted a cigarette in the gas filled room.

Keeble's body will be sent to Abilene for funeral services.

The attorney formerly lived in Abilene, where he had served as justice of the peace, then county judge and later county attorney. Upon retiring from the last post Mr. Keeble became associated with the law firm of Kirby King and Keeble at Abilene.

He came to Houston in 1921. Prior to going to Abilene he had practiced law for short periods in Dallas and Fort Worth. He was graduated from Washington Lee university at Lexington, Va., in 1902.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Keeble is survived by one daughter, Bettie Rob; a brother, W. R. Keeble of Abilene, and a sister, Mrs. Alton Gowdoy of Dallas.

a bag to match your shoes?
... naturally!
and if its an I. Miller bag, it matches in quality as well as material and design

And that is unusual. For many manufacturers create the appearance of quality alone. Not so with I. Miller! Anything that bears the I. Miller name must be as fine as artistry, skill and perfect materials can make it. See these bag-and-shoe ensembles. Examine them. Be critical. Notice the details. Study the color. Look at the leathers. Not a particle of difference between the bag and the shoe!

We are proud of that. We believe that it supports the ideas of quality that I. Miller established thirty years ago.

the scientist asserted, "as regards the number of specimens found. When the expedition returns at the beginning of October it will be possible to make some announcements of great scientific interest."

—Mrs. B. B. Butler, seriously hurt in an auto accident near here yesterday, was reported in a critical condition today. Two young women riding with her were only slightly injured. The automobile turned over three times when it hit loose dirt.
